RESURRECTING THE PAST, BUILDING THE FUTURE: MEET MARK BOWE

When it comes to combining history, craftsmanship, and a dash of charisma, few can rival Mark Bowe. An entrepreneur, on-camera host, and TV producer, Mark Bowe has spent the past three decades turning old-world skills into modern-day marvels. This October, Mark will be appearing on the Design Stage at the Salt Lake Fall Home Show, offering attendees a rare opportunity to learn from the man behind the hit TV show Barnwood Builders.

A JOURNEY FROM COAL MINES TO CRAFTSMANSHIP

Mark's story is as rugged and captivating as the structures he restores. Starting his career as a coal miner to put himself through West Virginia University, Mark earned a bachelor's degree in business administration and later a master's degree in safety management. But it wasn't just academics that fueled his passion—it was the hands-on work, the dirt under his nails, and the deep-rooted connection to America's history.

In 1996, Mark founded Barnwood Living, a business dedicated to rescuing and repurposing pioneer-era structures. What began as a labor of love grew into a phenomenon, capturing the hearts of millions through Barnwood Builders, a show now in its 15th season on the Magnolia Network. The show's success is a testament to Mark's unique ability to bridge the past and present, making history accessible and engaging for viewers of all ages.

CRAFTING A LIFESTYLE

Mark Bowe isn't just about buildings; he's about building a brand. Barnwood Living has evolved into a lifestyle brand that includes men's gifts, apparel, and home goods. Each product reflects the spirit of hard work, kindness, and pride in a job well done—values that Mark holds close to his heart.

But Mark's work isn't confined to TV screens or online shops. His career has taken him to some of the most exceptional and historic sites across America. From replacing the slate roof on Andrew Johnson's house to forging his own tools in a self-built blacksmith shop, Mark's experiences are as diverse as they are inspiring. He has stood inside Native American cliff dwellings, discovered ancient Finnish settlements, and even invented a tornado-proof, hurricane-proof, and fireproof house design.

Catch Mark on the Design Stage:
Friday, October 11, at 6 p.m., and Saturday, October 12, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

We asked Mark a few questions to get to know him better. Here's what he had to say.

Q. Best home purchase for under $100?

A. Barnwood

Q. What tool should every homeowner own?

A. Duct tape to hold things together until the professional gets there

Q. Tell us about your pets.

A. Mable and Vedder (both Goldendoodles). Mable is the most social and Vedder is the hungriest.

Q. Any simple tips for upgrading a small bathroom?

A. Phone/tablet holder

Q. What are your best landscaping tips?

A. Hire a professional especially when you are allergic to grass.

MEET MARK BOWE AT THE SHOW

Now, Mark is bringing his expertise and stories to the Salt Lake Fall Home Show. Attendees will have three opportunities to catch him on the Design Stage: Friday, October 11, at 6 p.m., and Saturday, October 12, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Whether you're a fan of Barnwood Builders or simply interested in learning more about home restoration and design, Mark's presentations are sure to be both informative and entertaining.

Mark's ability to connect with people from all walks of life is one of the reasons his show became the most-watched in the DIY Network's history. His charm, wit, and deep knowledge of history make him a natural storyteller, one who can make even the oldest, most weathered structures feel alive with possibility.

LOOKING BACK TO MOVE FORWARD

For Mark, every project is more than just a job—it's a chance to reanimate history and find new ways to build for the future. His philosophy is simple: by understanding the past, we can create better, more sustainable ways of living. This mindset has led him to innovate in areas as diverse as housing design and historical restoration.

At the Salt Lake Fall Home Show, Mark will share insights from his extensive career, answer questions, and maybe even reveal a few secrets about what's next for Barnwood Living. It's an event not to be missed for anyone interested in the art of building, whether with bricks and mortar or with stories and memories.

Mark Bowe is not just a craftsman; he's a visionary who sees the world in connections—between past and present, between people and their homes, and between hard work and success. Don't miss your chance to meet him in person and discover how he's resurrecting the past to build a brighter future for all.

Trends We Love

TRANSFORM YOUR SPARE BEDROOM INTO THE ULTIMATE CREATIVE SPACE

If you have an extra bedroom that's just gathering dust, why not transform it into a space that sparks joy and creativity? Whether you're an artist, a crafter, a musician, or someone who simply needs a dedicated workspace, turning that spare room into a creative haven is a fulfilling project. Here's how you can make it happen, with expert advice and support from vendors at the Salt Lake Fall Home Show.

1. DEFINE YOUR VISION

Start by clearly defining the purpose of your new room. Are you dreaming of an art studio bathed in natural light, a functional home office that boosts productivity, or a craft room brimming with supplies? Perhaps you envision a serene music room where you can practice without distractions. Having a clear vision will guide all your decisions, from furniture to decor.

2. PLAN YOUR LAYOUT

Once you know what you want the room to be, plan the layout to maximize the space. Consider the furniture and equipment you'll need and how to arrange them for optimal use. For an art studio, you might need a large table or easel positioned near a window. A home office requires a desk and comfortable chair, while a music room might need soundproofing and space for instruments.

3. LIGHT IT RIGHT

Lighting is essential in any creative space. If you're setting up an art studio, natural light is ideal, so try to position your workspace near a window. Supplement with adjustable task lighting for those late-night projects. In a home office, a combination of ambient and task lighting can create a productive atmosphere, while softer lighting can help set a relaxed mood in a music room.

4. SMART STORAGE SOLUTIONS

Keeping your space organized is key to making it functional. In an art or craft room, use shelving, cabinets, and wall-mounted organizers to keep supplies within reach. A pegboard can maximize vertical space, while modular storage solutions can adapt as your needs change. For a home office, think about filing cabinets and desk organizers.

5. CHOOSE THE RIGHT FURNITURE

The furniture you select should reflect the room's purpose. In a home office, prioritize ergonomic chairs and desks that enhance productivity. An art studio might require a sturdy worktable and comfortable seating. For a craft room, consider multifunctional furniture like fold-out tables or cabinets that double as work surfaces.

6. CREATE A COLOR PALETTE

The colors you choose can significantly impact the room's mood. For a relaxing space like a music room, consider soft, calming colors. An art studio might benefit from neutral tones that don't distract from your work, while a home office could use a mix of energizing and soothing hues. Craft rooms can be more playful, with bright, inspiring colors.

7. INCORPORATE TECHNOLOGY

Integrating technology into your room can enhance its functionality. In a home office, ensure you have the right equipment for your needs, like a reliable computer, printer, and high-speed internet. A music room might need audio equipment or recording gear, while an art studio could benefit from digital tools for design.

8. MAKE IT COMFORTABLE

Comfort is key to making your new space a place you want to spend time in. In a home office, choose a supportive chair and ensure your desk is at the right height. An art studio might need cushioned mats or a comfortable stool. For a music room, think about adding a cozy seating area where you can relax between sessions.

9. PERSONALIZE YOUR SPACE

Finally, add personal touches that make the room your own. Hang artwork or mood boards in an art studio, use bright colors and fun decor in a craft room, or add family photos and favorite books in a home office. In a music room, consider acoustic panels that double as decor. Personalization makes the space inviting and unique.

Transforming your spare bedroom into a creative space can be both exciting and practical. To help you bring your vision to life, visit the Salt Lake Fall Home Show where vendors are available to assist with all aspects of your room transformation—from planning and layout to storage solutions, furniture, and decor. Whether you're setting up an art studio, office, craft room, or music room, you'll find everything you need to create a space you'll love.
