Distinctive Outdoor Living

Shared laughter. Heartfelt conversation.
Unforgettable memories.

What does outdoor living mean to you?

At the heart of outdoor living is a special space that becomes the focal point of your outdoor events. At Brookside Timber Frame, we believe that these special spaces should be a source of pride and enjoyment for you. That's why we specialize in designing and constructing mortise and tenon pergolas and pavilions that are not only functional but also add a touch of elegance to any space.

Your timber frame structure will become a gathering place that encourages connection and celebration. Its unique design and natural aesthetics will become a topic of admiration and conversation among your guests. It will serve not only as a backdrop for the festivities but as a vessel for shared experiences and heart-to-heart connections.

What Is Old World Timber Frame Craftsmanship?

Our pergolas and pavilions are built using ancient building techniques that have stood the test of time. With large timbers and hefty timber frame joinery, we create masterpieces that are not only visually striking but also durable and long-lasting.

Large, solid wooden beams create the primary structural framework of our structures. Vertical posts and horizontal beams are made of solid timber chosen for strength and durability.

Traditional mortise and tenon joints secure the posts and beams. The ends of the beams are cut to have a projecting tenon, which is then inserted into a corresponding mortise in the post or beam, creating a strong and stable connection. These joints are secured with wooden pegs or dowels.

Once the timber frame is assembled, wall panels, roof trusses, and floor systems can be added to complete the structure. These secondary elements can be made from wood, metal, or masonry, depending on the specific design and requirements of the structure.

Timber frame construction combines traditional craftsmanship with modern building techniques, resulting in a structurally sound, aesthetically pleasing, and environmentally friendly structure.

Indianapolis Landscape Association Presents Feature Gardens

Check out a variety of Hoosier landscapers' signature styles in the West Pavilion and Expo Hall

The Indianapolis Landscape Association's feature gardens in both the West Pavilion and Expo Hall are brimming with color – from gorgeous greens to beautiful blues and everything in between. The area's top landscape professionals have a variety of affordable to big-budget options for your next garden or backyard project.

"We are excited and thrilled to support the Showcase Gardens and the independent landscape companies participating this year," said Indianapolis Landscape Association President Chris Geryak.

Josh Perkins, landscape architect with Plant Studio Landscape, said they are showcasing a multi-level garden experience with a variety of features.

"This year's display includes multiple levels of landscaping that display different features we can design and build. Walk in on the main level and be greeted by a display of paver patterns and blooming plants. The second level is a place for visitors to lounge by a custom-built gas fire pit and take in the beauty of the show. Finally, the third level of our booth shows visitors our ability to deliver inground pools and spas with a luxurious, fully functioning inground spa. We are excited to deliver another fun spring floral experience and will see you all there."

Heath Outdoor and DIGS Garden Center are gearing up for a peaceful and calming vibe for their gardens.

"For 2025, the Heath Outdoor and DIGS Garden Center teams are feeling a need for some tranquility," said Amy Lapka, creative director. "As a result, our installations this year will feature two tranquil, intertwined Zen garden spaces that offer chances to play, explore, relax and be inspired."

For Heath Outdoor, a peaceful brook winds its way through lovely seating areas and Asian-inspired gardens, leading to a moon gate that centers the space and encourages photo opportunities.

"This design is a celebration of my Asian roots," said Dennis Linner, lead designer. "I have so many memories from my childhood of exploring outdoor spaces that felt so purposeful and connected to nature. Moon gates are symbols of renewal, happiness and good fortune, and I like how they add a structural interest to a design. I hope everyone will enjoy exploring this oasis we've created."

Designed by Lapka, the DIGS installation will complement the Zen garden theme with a Torii gate, street market-inspired plant shop, mini cherry blossom orchard and interactive rock garden.

"I want this experience to evoke playfulness and joy," said Lapka. "And I'm hoping that families will be inspired to see how creating unexpected outdoor spaces in your own yard can improve your wellness and connection to nature."

With Precision Outdoors, Managing Partner Caleb Harbert is excited for their contemporary and modern garden space this year.

"Our garden will showcase a modern outdoor living space featuring an urban sunken fire pit feature and an outdoor kitchen with bluebird pergola water features, and of course, the outdoor sauna cold plunge building."

Start to Finish offers a unique landscape garden inspired by imbibing with friends and family.

"Our team of skilled designers have meticulously designed an outdoor oasis inspired by the artistry you can find in a bottle of your favorite whiskey," said Caleb Snyder, landscape designer. "This space captures the essence of the bourbon trail, offering a vibrant landscape, rustic firepit, outdoor kitchen and a water wheel to create a memorable landscape. As you immerse yourself in this environment, you can sip, savor and truly enjoy the experience in a unique outdoor living space that you won't soon forget."

Redefine Your Home One Project at a Time

Find Your Perfect Escape with ShedEscape Designs

Greene County's ShedEscape Designs offers retreats to unplug and unwind

In a world of hustle and bustle, ShedEscape Designs creates the ideal place to escape the outside world, slow down time and make lasting memories.

Husband and wife duo, Pat and Lana Beck, always wanted to do something different and creative. Lana served as a special education teacher, while Pat worked as an engineer. After those 25 years of work, marriage and raising a family, the pair were ready to make a change.

"After COVID happened, it was important to us to take time out of a busy, hectic day to stop time – even for just a few minutes a day – to recapture time with our family," said Lana. "Time goes by so quickly. We have three kids of our own, so we know firsthand how fast time goes and the significance of having a special space to slow down and make meaningful memories with your family."

Thus, ShedEscape Designs was created as a unique retreat for families to unplug and unwind so they can recharge and reconnect. From custom playhouses and studio sheds to cottage homes, garden sheds and everything in between, ShedEscapes provide a variety of ways to relax indoors or outdoors.

"You can see a variety of our different features at the Flower + Patio Show this year. For example, we'll have our custom A-Frame designed playhouses – as we're one of the only providers in the state – which are handcrafted in our family workshop and can be completely customizable," said Lana. "We'll also be unveiling a brand new model, the Pub Shed! It's a garden bar that is fully enclosed with a full swinging opening wall, so families can open it up and play on a dart board, watch the big game on TV or even serve up their favorite drinks."

ShedEscape Designs' exquisite backyard retreats can offer a wide range of uses, from a home office headquarters, a cozy and quiet reading space or a vibrant hang out space for teens. What makes ShedEscape Designs unique is each shed can be completely customized to a family's wants and needs.

"Our favorite part of the job is when people come to us with ideas out of their wildest imaginations," said Lana. "We love to design exactly what a family needs. An escape can be a backyard playhouse, or a nook in the basement, it can be anything you need to take space for yourself or be with family and friends."

Additionally, Lana's background in special education allows ShedEscape Designs to build accessible spaces for those with disabilities or special needs.

"We can make sensory modifications, accessibility updates or add designated signage to any of our shed designs for those children or adults with special needs. These retreats allow children and adults to be independent, but are close enough to a traditional living space so that a guardian can be nearby. We want to make sure these sanctuaries are able to be used by anyone and everyone!"

Come check out ShedEscape Designs' unique retreats at the Expo Hall during the Flower + Patio Show!

"This will be our fourth year competing in the Deck Wars competition," said John Hile, owner of Advance Deck & Sunroom and the Deck Wars Champion of 2024. "It's always a challenge to design a stand-alone deck that can showcase our technical abilities, as well as the versatility of the Trex product. We know that being the defending champion of last year's title we will be the team to beat, and know we will have some healthy competition by the other very competent builders. We look forward to the challenge and know that this year will be another tough contest."

"The upcoming Deck Wars is set to be an exhilarating showcase of innovation and craftsmanship, where Artisan Outdoor Craftsman truly shines by 'thinking outside the deck,'" said Ryan Coyle, president and owner of Artisan Outdoor Craftsman. "This year, our team is pushing the boundaries of traditional deck

Ryan continues, "Our approach involves a meticulous attention to detail, ensuring that every element, from the choice of materials to the integration of unique features, contributes to a cohesive and harmonious outdoor environment. You can expect to see all these elements come to life in our latest creations, as we continue to redefine what a deck can be."

"At Paradigm Construction, we believe outdoor living spaces are an extension of the home, offering unique opportunities for relaxation, entertainment and connection," said Eddie Martinez, this year's exhibit manager for the Paradigm Construction deck. "Our Deck Wars entry will showcase innovative design solutions that maximize space and functionality, transforming outdoor areas into personalized havens. This year, we are thrilled to be building the winning deck for a deserving client, bringing their dream outdoor space to life. We're excited to share our vision with the community and inspire others to create their own exceptional decks."

"My hope is that the attendees of the show, whether they are looking for a new outdoor space or not, take the time to visit the Deck Wars area to appreciate the heart these craftsmen all put into creating their spaces," Trex's Adam Hochstedler added. "And if you are looking for a new outdoor living area, be sure to talk with any one of them to start designing a new space to enjoy with your family and friends! Also, don't forget to take the time to vote on which one is your favorite deck!"

After winter's chill begins to thaw, the Plant Market is the best place to be to get a sneak peek at all the sights and scents of the upcoming spring season. One of the most popular features at the Flower + Patio Show, the Plant Market has everything from fresh flowers and plants to gardening supplies right at your fingertips. And you can't miss it — it's right at the entrance of West Pavilion.

Joel Karsten Shares His Pioneer Method of Gardening

How Straw Bale Gardening method works for anyone, anywhere

At this year's Flower + Patio Show, Joel Karsten – one of the most in-demand garden lecturers in the country – will introduce audiences to "the fastest growing vegetable gardening method since man started cultivating crops 10,000 years ago." This method he pioneered is straw bale gardening, which is simply a different type of container gardening in which the container is the straw bale itself, held together with two or three strings. Once the straw inside the bale begins to decompose, the straw becomes conditioned and ready to plant.

Thanks to their raised height and low-maintenance perks – no weeding, no digging, minimal watering – straw bales are an ideal solution for a wide variety of gardeners. From first-time gardeners to seniors with sore green thumbs, straw bale gardening affordably caters to people from all walks of life, whether they're growing in the countryside or the city.

"As long as you have sunlight and a source of water, it doesn't matter where you put the bale," Karsten said. "It could be in a backyard, it could be on a rooftop. I heard about a woman in New York building her bale in a parking spot outside her condominium.”

Skeptics of this method are wary of gardening without traditional soil. But, as Karsten explained, “All soil in gardening is simply decomposed organic matter. Plants or animals decompose to make that black soil we all recognize. All we’re doing is taking a bale and decomposing it from the inside, which releases the nutrients that plants need to grow and becomes soil. When I explain the science behind it, the lightbulb goes on in people’s heads, and they become avid fans of straw bale gardening.”

In addition to a stage presentation, Karsten will have a demonstration booth at the show, where attendees can see a starter-size straw bale garden.

For more information about Karsten and straw bale gardening, visit www.strawbalegardens.com.

Joel will share his technique and explain the advantages of the concept, and he appears at the Flower + Patio Show on Friday, March 21 through Sunday, March 23. Come learn from Joel!

Planting Peace of Mind with Abby's Garden Parties

Master Gardener gives tips for gardening and well-being Abby Perry, founder of Abby's Garden Parties, combines her bachelor's in psychology from the University of Michigan with her expertise as a Purdue-certified Master Gardener, showing how a stronger sense of well-being can blossom from nurturing plants.

Perry's journey began during the pandemic when her daughter's request for a terrarium sparked the idea to share this calming and creative experience with others.

Through her stage presentation at the Indiana Flower + Patio Show, Perry will provide essential tips for the care of succulent plants and highlight the mental health benefits of gardening, discussing how tending to greenery can foster relaxation, reduce stress and provide a sense of accomplishment.

“Gardening is therapeutic because it connects us with nature, which has been shown to lower cortisol levels and boost mood,” Perry said. “For instance, the act of planting or arranging a terrarium is a mindful activity that encourages focus and creativity, while also offering a sense of peace. The repetitive, tactile actions like handling soil or arranging plants help calm the mind, making it a natural stress reliever. Plus, watching something you’ve planted grow over time instills a sense of purpose and joy.”

Perry's stage presentation gives visitors a preview of what they can experience at the Abby's Garden Parties Terrarium & Plant Shop in downtown Zionsville.

“Imagine being surrounded by over 200 vibrant plants while swapping a bit of screen time for ‘green time,’” Perry said about the store. “It’s a place to relax, get your hands a little dirty and learn about plants in a fun, approachable way. Whether you’re building a terrarium, browsing for the perfect houseplant or spending quality time with loved ones, the atmosphere is creative, welcoming and filled with the calming energy of nature.”

Join Abby at the Flower + Patio Show for expert tips on indoor plants and the transformative power of gardening on stage Wednesday, March 19 and Saturday, March 22!

Purdue Extension Master Gardeners Plant Seeds of Inspiration

Presentations highlight the scientific and practical sides of gardening

Ready to put your green thumb to the test? The Purdue Master Gardener Program trains gardening enthusiasts as volunteers to assist Purdue Extension with home horticulture education in communities throughout Indiana.

Extension Master Gardener volunteers complete at least 40 hours of training in consumer horticulture, pass a final exam, and commit to ongoing volunteer and continuing education activities to expand their horticulture skills and help their community grow.

In 2024, more than 2,600 volunteers gave more than 168,000 hours, valued at more than $5 million! Indiana's Purdue

Extension Master Gardener Program began in 1978 with four participating counties. Currently, more than 50 Indiana counties have active Extension Master Gardener programs.

At this year's Flower + Patio Show, Karen Mitchell presents "Digging Into Soil Health with Soil Testing." Fellow Master Gardeners Mike Hathaway and Kathryn Reeves will co-present "Great Tips for Growing Vegetables in Containers Year Round." Mitchell is a Purdue Consumer Horticulture Extension

Specialist, focused on programming for community gardens and home horticulture. Both retired Purdue University staff members, Reeves and Hathaway conduct container garden demonstrations at Purdue's annual Spring Fest. Together, they also grow flowers and vegetables indoors and outdoors every year.

"Gardening is a complex process," Mitchell said.

"Our presentations range from the scientific – interpreting soil test results – to the practical, like making homegrown salads in the winter. Whether you're a novice gardener or an experienced grower, these presentations provide actionable insights to help you cultivate the healthiest soil and grow the best garden all year round."

Cora the Flower Truck Offers Bouquets of Beauty

Cindy Ward with Rusted Kreations shares love of flowers through Cora

“As a child, my grandma always had a huge flower garden – and she would let us go out into the garden and pick whatever we wanted. No restrictions or guidelines on what we could or couldn’t pick. It was such a special thing for me.”

Cindy Ward’s passion for flowers began with her grandma’s flower garden, continued in her love for gardening and then to the creation of her own flower farm in 2023.

“I’ve always given my flowers out as bouquets and even had a place in town I would take them and give them away for free,” Ward said. “Then I would get thank you notes from people in the community, telling me how much they enjoyed the flowers, and that really meant a lot to me.” Cindy and her husband brainstormed a way to combine her passion for flowers with his passion for old cars – and Cora the Flower Truck was born.

“After some research, we found a 1965 Ford Econoline,” Cindy said. “She was in rough shape, but my husband loves to restore rustic items.” That’s how they came up with the business name – Rusted Kreations. And Cora is named after Cindy’s grandma, the one who began her affection for all things floral. It’s been a labor of love, and Cindy is ready to share it with everyone at the Flower + Patio Show!

“We’ve had a lot of success so far with taking Cora out in the community,” Ward said. “She’s been to the farmers market and other community events, and we’re thrilled to bring her to the Flower + Patio Show this year.” What kinds of flowers can you choose from? Everything from sunflowers and roses to mums and daises. There will be a fresh variety each day of the show, and Flower + Patio Show attendees can stop by Cora, make their own bouquet and take it home to enjoy!

“When people approach Cora, I get to hear lots of stories from both men and women about memories of their childhood and growing up. Someone’s grandpa used to have a truck like Cora or someone’s grandma grew this or that variety of flowers. I really enjoy bringing joy to people – and if the simple act of buying a flower from Cora brings them joy, it makes me feel good.”

Come see Cindy with Rusted Kreations at the Flower + Patio Show! Make and take your own beautiful bouquet when you visit Cora the Flower Truck in the West Pavilion.
